

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A pressure container has inner and outer containers (10; 20) having, respectively, first and second chambers (11; 21) for receiving, respectively, first and second media (21, 22) and sealed with respect to each other, a cover (25) for closing both the inner container (10) and the outer container (20), a valve (40) provided in the cover (25) for delivering one of the first and second media from a respective one of the first and second chambers, and a protective jacket (30) for enclosing the outer container (20) and having a bottom (36) building toward a bottom (26) of the outer container (20) provided at an end of the outer container (20) remote from the valve (40), with the protective jacket (30) further having, at its end remote from its bottom, a crimp rim (34) engageable with a crimp (34) of the cover (25) for supporting the cover (25).